

Session Watch

Monday, February 5, 2024 (day 30 of the 60-day Session)

---

The first of many milestones was reached this week when the policy committee cutoff came and went. The first sifting of bills is the longest stretch of the session followed by a fury of cutoff dates that lead to the March 8th adjournment.

This weekend the fiscal committees will be working to consider all recently passed policy bills that made it through the aforementioned cutoff date. As the legislature begins to move towards a fiscal frame of mind, the policy bills with fiscal ramifications begin to build the operating budget bill document. Fiscal policy that gets passed ahead of the budget have to be incorporated into the agreed upon operating budget.

The final piece of the budget puzzle is the revenue forecast. In even numbered years the revenue forecast comes out on February 20th and in odd years it is delivered on March 20th. These dates give lawmakers the ability to integrate timely budget data into their final bill. As a reminder, Washington State has a balanced budget mandate so we cannot spend into deficit. Our biennial budgets have to balance over a four-year outlook based on the non-partisan budget forecast data.

Please see below for the list of bills remaining after the first policy committee cutoff. This list has been paired down to reflect the legislation that is still “alive” this session.

Bill Highlights -

SB 5972 - 2023-24 - Concerning the use of neonicotinoid pesticides.

The neonic bill we have been engaged in has made another step in the process as it had a bill hearing in Senate Ways and Means on February 1st. As a reminder, this bill bans consumer retail use of neonic pesticide applications but still allows for licensed applicators to apply the products outdoors. A group representing chemical manufacturers testified against the bill on Thursday and other entities submitted concerns or “other” comments. SB 5972 has until Monday night (2/5) to be successfully voted out of Ways and Means. The feeling is that it may get out of committee depending on the amount of time left on cutoff day.

HB 1589 - Supporting Washington's clean energy economy and transitioning to a clean, affordable, and reliable energy future

The bill would ban any gas company that serves more than 500,000 customers from connecting new natural gas lines to new residential or commercial buildings — with limited exemptions for certain manufacturing, medical care, correctional, and military facilities. The 2024 version of this bill reads very similar to the 2023 version that was passed off the House floor. This bill, as written, is a detriment to our rural areas with respect to construction and expansion.

When this bill came off the House floor in 2023 the vote count was 52-44 and interestingly the bipartisan side was against the bill. With the new version in 2024 they hoped to garner more support but the vote count in 2024 was 52-45 and again the bipartisan side was against the bill.

There are also federal implications to this policy. In April of 2023, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit held that the city of Berkeley, CA passed a similar law (EPCA) which preempts state and local building codes concerning the energy use of natural gas appliances, including Berkeley’s building code which prohibits natural gas piping into new buildings and thereby prevents those appliances from using natural gas. On January 2, 2024, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit denied Berkeley’s request for review by the full Ninth Circuit and the panel’s decision was reaffirmed. What that means is that the court reaffirmed the notion that local or state authority cannot preempt federal law on these matters and that the Berkeley policy is unlawful. More to come on this policy as it plays out.
